Germans Make Surprise Attack But Are Completely Repulsed By British North-East of Ypres

Discharge Clouds of Gas Against British Lines, But Measures Taken to Render Them Ineffective and Under Heavy Fire Enemy Unable to Effect Approach. French Artillery Bombard German Positions Near St. Mihiel and Apremont—French Drop Bombs Near German Fortresses of Metz

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Dec. 19.—Complete breakdown of a German attempt to repeat northeast of Ypres their surprise attack of April was reported tonight in a British official statement.
Early this morning the Germans discharged clouds of gas against the British lines, accompanied by a violent bombardment. Measures which had been taken caused the gas to become ineffective, and under a heavy fire the enemy was unable to even approach the trenches.
On the whole activity on the British section on the allied front in the west has been confined to artillery work, the statement says. A German aeroplane was brought down east of Arras.

The British official statement on the progress on the western front for yesterday says:
"The day generally has been misty and unsuitable for artillery observations. It has, therefore, been quiet on the whole. Our artillery assisted, by French artillery, today effectively silenced hostile guns to the north of Ypres."
"Yesterday afternoon a French torpedo boat brought down a German hydro-aeroplane off Neuport, taking the occupants prisoners."

French Artillery.
PARIS, Dec. 19.—The French artillery last night bombarded "with accuracy" the German positions southeast of St. Mihiel in the Apremont salient, according to the official statement given today by the French war department. The statement adds that about forty guns were engaged on the salient in the action at dawn, but only four of the German fortresses of Metz.
The following official communication was issued by the French war office tonight:
"The day was marked by intense activity by our artillery at a number of points on the front. In Belgium our batteries, in co-operation with the British artillery, very effectively silenced German batteries from which our communications were being directed. Towards the British front, our artillery was directed towards the German positions, very effectively silenced hostile guns to the north of Ypres. ## Earl of Derby Looks for the New Year To Show Brighter Outlook Than Now

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Dec. 19.—Lord Derby, director of recruiting, and Ben Tillett, secretary of the Dock Workers' Union, representing the opposite poles of social and political life, appeared on the same platform in a music hall meeting here yesterday, when Tillett described his recent visit to the British front. The Earl of Derby, who presided, said the introducing the speaker:

"When it comes to the question of the number of men who have enlisted, I must not anticipate in any way what will be said Tuesday by the prime minister. I think the country will feel when he makes that statement that the heart of the country is right."

"I hope the New Year will show a brighter outlook than is discernible at the present moment. Probably the result will come sooner than many expect, but no sooner than they hope—a result which will be a victory for the allied forces. I am not in the least pessimistic about the future."
